Winter Volunteers at Mark Twain Lake

Mark Twain Lake, November 5, 2007---- Is the thought of being stuck indoors through out the winter already depressing you? Mark Twain Lake can help you with that. Volunteers are needed even in the winter. Want to watch the wildlife in their natural surrounding? We've got that. Want to walk the trails without ticks and chiggers? We've got that. Rather stay inside an office to answer phones and talk with visitors. We've got that, too.

The lake isn't only beautiful in the summer. Everyone should reintroduce themselves to the outdoors in the winter. Experience the wonderful stillness, the solitude and the sun reflecting off the water, nature at its best, and it's in your backyard.

All are welcome to volunteer for inside or outside tasks donating as much time as you want.

To volunteers or want more information please phone, Mark Twain Lake Project Office at 573-735-4097.
